

Omnisys is a global provider of mission optimization solutions for defense and homeland security. The brand name of our product line is BRO (battle resource optimization) systems.

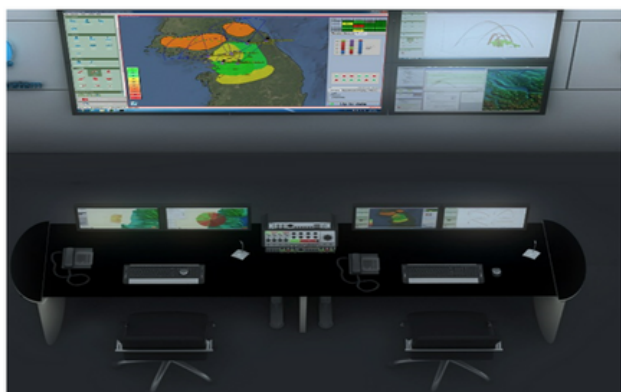

Today's operational missions are becoming increasingly complex, leading to sub-optimal decision-making and resource utilization. In order to maximize performance across the mission lifecycle, there's a need for innovative solutions that deliver a planning system that can give recommendations to achieve mission goals.

Plan to Win!

Fully operational and combat-proven BRO systems used in mission planning, management and debriefing. Mission types supported: air defense, air surveillance, intelligence gathering, spectrum management, border security and EW.
